The university and its constituent colleges, schools, and departments are autonomous institutions. They are governed by their respective governing bodies, which are responsible for the administration, maintenance, and development of their institutions. The university is committed to ensuring that its constituent institutions maintain academic and research standards that are comparable to those of similar institutions in other countries.

The university's governing body, the Board of Trustees, consists of representatives from various sectors, including academia, business, and civil society. The Board of Trustees is responsible for setting the strategic direction of the university, approving its budget, and ensuring compliance with legal and regulatory requirements.

The university's academic program is designed to provide students with a comprehensive education that prepares them for careers in various fields. The university offers undergraduate, graduate, and professional degree programs, as well as continuing education opportunities. The university's faculties are composed of accomplished scholars and researchers who are dedicated to advancing knowledge and imparting it to students.

The university is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive community. It promotes equal opportunities for all students, regardless of their background, and encourages collaboration across disciplines and cultures. The university's policies and procedures are designed to ensure that all students have access to the resources and support they need to succeed.

The university's mission is to educate and prepare students for meaningful and successful careers, to advance knowledge through research and creative activity, and to engage with society to address pressing issues. The university is committed to excellence in teaching, learning, and scholarship, and to serving the wider community through its engagement activities.
